

Advanced International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) Seminar

ITAR Seminar

March 26, 2019, Johnstown, PA

Deadline for registration is March 15, 2019

A specially designed one-day program for those with substantive experience in dealing with the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR). This advanced seminar is designed for export compliance officers and ITA “empowered officials,” international contracting specialists, contract managers and administrators, program and project managers, marketing professionals, legal advisors, and others involved in the international defense marketplace and ITAR compliance. This class is valued at $950; however, there is no charge for defense contractors.

Best practices will be presented and discussed by the class. The course will include information on recent ITAR developments and their potential impact on companies’ compliance programs. Recent enforcement actions will be used as case studies, and students will participate in interactive team exercises featuring hypothetical ITAR problems.
